Dads of Daughters – Wednesday, October 10th, 2012
Dads! There is nothing quite like being a dad of a daughter – but sometimes as our girls get older, they become more of a mystery. This talk explores how dads can remain close to their daughters while balancing our hopes for their lives with their passions and priorities. Strategies to promote understanding and maintain a healthy communication will be explored.

Mothers of Sons – Wednesday, October 17th, 2012
For Moms - sometimes mothers feel confused on what their role should be in steering their son in his course toward manhood. This talk covers some of the unique issues facing boys as they mature, some of the things on their minds, the role of male and female role-models, and strategies in building communication between the teen boy and his mom.

Julie Metzger, RN, MN and Rob Lehman MD, co-founders of Great Conversations (www.greatconversations.com) and the popular For Girls Only and For Boys Only classes at Seattle Children's and Overlake Hospitals return to Sunset Elementary for two special evenings to talk with parents and other adults on the joys and challenges of parenting their children. Rob and Julie recently published a book: Will Puberty Last My Whole Life? REAL Answers to REAL Questions from Preteens About Body Changes, Sex, and Other Growing-Up Stuff.
