

Interested in free tutoring for your child? Three Newcastle Elementary Alumni are here to help!

Hi, we are Miki Kusunose, Forrest Williams, and Aiden Silvestri. We are current high schoolers at Newport HS, Skyline HS, and Phillips Exeter Academy, respectively.

In light of the recent school closures, we are disheartened to see so many students being taken away from their classrooms. As high schoolers, we want to give back to our elementary school community during this difficult time for parents and students alike.

We have decided to volunteer our time to help tutor elementary school students through online tutoring sessions, and we would love to help your child get through this challenging time!

We can tutor any subject, including math, English, history, and science.

Working on a weekly basis, we will work in groups to provide an intellectual space to have conversations and study, as we aim to hone the students' critical thinking skills and knowledge.

We will accommodate every student's needs, whether it be providing extra educational support or assigning additional learning opportunities to keep students engaged.

Our curriculum will be largely based on the Washington Common Core Standards Initiative.

We will work with parents to find out what will be best for their child and for their educational needs to provide a valuable experience.
